We exercise the utmost care in respect of the information on our website. Our top priority is that information must be correct, up-to-date and clear, and that accessibility and user-friendliness are safeguarded as much as possible.

Our website provides you with general information for your own use. It goes without saying that this information does not account for all possible situations and exceptions. You will always be responsible for the information that you send to us via our website, as well as checking information you forward to us. We therefore accept no liability for incorrect, incomplete, anomalous or contradictory information on our website or for any information, dimensions or deviations ensuing herefrom. Please contact us to discuss any specific situations and/or wishes.

For security's sake, please note that information that is sent to us by e-mail or via the contact form on our website is not secured and, for that reason, it cannot be considered confidential.

Finally, we note that we hold all the intellectual property rights in relation to our website and social media channels. We are pleased to share this information with you in the interests of accessibility. However, to prevent any misunderstandings and mistakes, as well as to safeguard our values, we cannot permit users of our website to change, process, or reproduce the information on our website and social media channels – including but not limited to all images and texts – or to share that information with third parties and/or disclose it, or to create a link between our website and another website or software programs without our prior consent.
